Get ready to enjoy a evening of laughter on Thursday, March 30th when Moorestown Rotary's popular Comedy Night fundraiser returns to the Moorestown Community House.

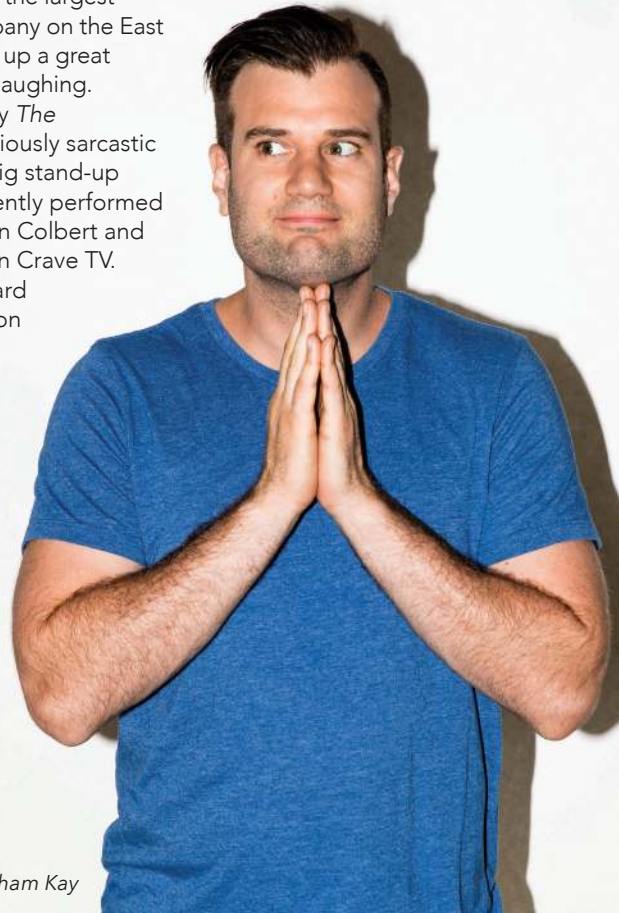

Moorestown's own Joel Richardson, an MHS graduate and founder of Soul Joel's Productions, the largest independent comedy production company on the East Coast, will host the event and has lined up a great program of top comedians to leave us laughing.

Headliner, Graham Kay, described by The Huffington Post as "quick, clever, deliciously sarcastic and brilliantly funny," is an award-winning stand-up comedian, actor and TV writer. He recently performed stand up on The Late Show with Steven Colbert and has a new Comedy Special available on Crave TV. Graham's comedy can currently be heard regularly on SiriusXM Radio and seen on The Comedy Network.

The show will also feature Sam Rubinoff, a stand-up comedian and writer who performs nightly around New York City. He is constantly writing, producing, directing and acting in sketches, spec ads and shorts.

The return of this popular event which supports many of Rotary's charitable programs locally and around the world, is sure to be a sellout, so reserve your seats now. Doors will open at 6:30pm; the show will start at 7:30pm. Tickets are $30 in advance; $35 at the door.
